ELECTRICAL STORM

A violent electrical storm east of Moose Jaw has caused a break down in the telegraph lines and no press dispatches will be received today.

PRICE OF COAL

A meeting of the various Edmonton coal miners' union held Saturday afternoon to discuss raising the price of coal to four dollars a ton. The feeling of the meeting was in favor of the advance in price, but it adjourned without any definite arrangements being made. One of the mine owners in the vicinity was absent from the meeting, and the mine owners in attendance discussing the matter decided against the increase in price. Coal will henceforth sell, as in the past, at $3.50 a ton, delivered.

PERSONAL

Mrs. A. R. Dickson and family, Wetaskiwin, are the guests of Mrs. A. E. Potter.
Miss Dora Oliver left Saturday afternoon for Port Saskatchewan for a few days' camping with Major and Mrs. Belcher and party.
Mr. Sullivan, or more familiarly known as "Sully," the point player of the Edmonton lacrosse club, left on Saturday morning for San Francisco, where a remunerative situation is awaiting him.

PINE COAL IN ALBERTA

Montreal, September 9.—George S. Balon, an expert from Pennsylvania, states that sixty million tons of coal are to be obtained above the level of the Canadian Pacific and Crow's Nest Pass Railway tracks in Alberta.

A company has been formed and mining operations will be commenced as soon as the plant can be put down. The plant must be capable of producing 2,000 tons daily. Mr. Balon says, running from 6 to 18 feet thick. Coke of great value has been found in the ovens of Coleman as the result of experiments which have been made. The company is going to push ahead the work of development of these finds.

LOCAL

—L. O. L. No. 1794, meets tonight.

—Tenders are being called for for the erection of a Salvation Army barracks in Edmonton.

—Applications for the position of caretaker of the Presbyterian church are being called for.
—J. E. Clark will open up with an entirely new and up-to-date stock of harness, saddlery, etc., in the store opposite Revillon Freres Jasper Avenue west.

—The Bishop of Calgary will hold an ordination service at Wetaskiwin on Sunday, September 24th, when two deacons will be admitted to the order of priests.

—Herald—F. H. Houghton, of Cochrane, who has been appointed one of the Grand Trunk Pacific engineers, left for the north this morning with a survey party.

—The W. H. Hooper Company reports the sale of lot 23, block 7, River Lot 16, "Syndicate Property," to "Barbados," now Barbados is a lawyer.

—The possibility of a lacrosse game with Strathcona is not promising. This is to be regretted as the Edmonton players and supporters think the south team would be easy.

—Advocate.—During the month of August 550 tons of brick were shipped out of Red Deer as against 344 tons shipped in August last year. That is to say, an increase of 206 tons, very tangible evidence of progress.

—Tuesday is Edmonton's Civic Holiday, also the opening day for chicken shooting. Many parties are getting ready for the sport, and as the birds are reported plentiful, chicken will for some time be a staple on most bills of fare.

—The following is taken from the Public Opinion, Watertown, South Dakota: "There has been more rain this harvest than during any harvest within the memory of man, so far as South Dakota is concerned, it is said. And what makes the fact all the more disagreeable for farmers and threshers is that the rains have invariably been of the very 'wettest' sort. If there is anything that grinds a farmer's nerves is a wet rain—one of those kind that make the outside of him damp. He can usually stand a little moisture on the inside." Alberta is not the only rainy country after all.

—Reporter.—Mr. W. Pearce, who has demonstrated that a steamboat can be run successfully on the Saskatchewan, arrived in the Port on Wednesday with a large party in tow, containing in the aggregate 20,000 feet of lumber, doors and other finishing lumber, enroute to Cushing, Minn. He brought also as passengers Mrs. Inspector Belcher and family, accompanied by Miss H. Oliver and Mr. Nesbitt. They are to spend a week's holiday on Major Belcher's farm just below the Port.

—Mr. J. West returned to Edmonton yesterday from an extensive trip through Southern Oregon. Mr. West is glad to get back to Edmonton and says that nowhere in the course of his whole trip were the crops as heavy as they are in Northern Alberta. He had numerous questions to answer concerning Northern Alberta and was glad to have been given the opportunity of saying good words for Edmonton. He brought back with him three cars of well-bred Oregonian horses and mares of Percheron and Norman stock. These horses are a choice lot, as Mr. West has taken particular pains in their selection. He is advertising these horses in another column.

—Regina West—With reference to our item in last issue, taken from the Free Press, mentioning that the first phonograph to be used for office work in Winnipeg, had been installed by the freight department of the C. P. R., a correspondent calls attention to the fact that this is only another instance in which Manitoba is behind the Territories. The phonograph for office use was first introduced in the Territories in 1905, when S. S. & H. C. Taylor, barristers, of Edmonton, installed in their offices a $150 machine, which was subsequently operated until the dissolution of the firm, when it was taken by the senior member to British Columbia, another, we understand, being purchased to take its place in the Edmonton office.

FROM OTTAWA

Bulletin Correspondence.

The debate on the second reading of the transcontinental railway resolution was closed at two o'clock this morning by a vote of 117 to 71, a majority for the government proposition of 16. Messrs Blair and Tarte, ex-ministers, and Puttee, labor member for Winnipeg, who usually votes with the government, voted against the resolutions. Three amendments had been moved. The one by Mr. Cosgrain for delay and further enquiry before entering into the proposed bargain, was made for the express purpose of catching Mr. Blair, who, on the second amendment previously made, had voted with the government. As his attitude against the government policy was based on the need of delay, he could not do other than vote for the catch amendment proposed. Messrs. Tarte and Puttee voted against this amendment. Mr. Puttee's amendment in favor of government ownership and operation of railways was defeated by 135 to 50. Messrs Blair and Tarte both voted against this amendment and Mr. Puttee for it. An amendment to this amendment had been moved by Mr. Boyd, declaring for extension of the government system of railways. This was defeated by 119 to 68. Messrs. Blair, Tarte and Puttee all voting against it. It has been said that Mr. Puttee's amendment in favor of government ownership was moved for the purpose of showing that the Conservatives were not in favor, or at least not united in favor, of that principle. Mr. Boyd's amendment to the amendment was practically the same in principle and was moved for the purpose of enabling the Conservatives to vote against Puttee's amendment as well as against the government's proposition. Mr. Puttee raised the point of order that the amendment to the amendment could not properly be considered as it did not embody a new principle, but the speaker ruled that the point of order was raised too late, and a vote was taken as above.

The bill founded on the resolutions is now introduced and the whole question is reopened both in principle and detail. It was thought at one time that once the resolutions were carried the debate would practically be concluded, but notice was given last night by Mr. Monk of an amendment to be moved at the second reading of the bill, which embodies in general terms the specific proposition made by the leader of the opposition as to an alternative transcontinental railway policy. The amendment is the work of Mr. Borden, but notice was given of it by Mr. Monk in Mr. Borden's absence owing to illness. While it covers the same ground as the alternative proposition of the leader of the opposition, it does it in a general way without coming down to particulars; and therefore, has a better chance of escaping or avoiding the destructive criticism which has been aimed so successfully at the proposition itself. There is no doubt that this amendment is decidedly a second thought on the part of the opposition party, urged to it partly by taunts from the government side as to lack of united opposition amongst the Conservatives on the subject, and partly by the hope of securing something like a united expression of opinion which can be placed before the country as a Conservative party policy. Inasmuch as the amendment is nearly as long, and much more disjointed than the railway which it would provide, it will be strange if in one or other of its numerous paragraphs or whereases it does not offer the opportunity for the followers of Mr. Borden to support their leader in one particular or another. It does not, however, by any means cover the whole of the details of the scheme for the solving of the transportation problem of Canada which he proposed. But it will furnish material for interminable debate, which with the present opposition, seems to stand in the place of principle, policy and argument.

Of the debate itself it may be said that on the whole it did not rise to the level which the importance of the subject as a national question would have warranted. This was very largely because the sentiment and common sense of the country is distinctly in favor of a second transcontinental railway and all sections of the community are satisfied as to the ability of the country to stand the financial strain. These two points being settled in the affirmative, there was no room left for argument on great principles, unless the opposition had taken up the policy of government ownership, which they failed to do. In criticizing a proposition the principle of which they could not oppose, the opposition were seriously handicapped; and the government side did not take full advantage of the greatness of the scheme; spending their energy chiefly in combating the criticisms directed only against details by members of the opposition. The result of the debate was a foregone conclusion, and once the leaders had been heard at the beginning, very little interest was manifested until near the close, when the speech made by Hon. Mr. Patterson, minister of customs, reached a level in oratory and debate, which was only equalled by that of the premier in introducing the measure.

The course of the opposition during the debate was worthy of comment. While they incessantly demanded that the government should bring down its transcontinental railway policy, and even went so far as to deliberately obstruct business in order to compel its being brought down; once it was before the House they testified their interest in the subject by absenting themselves from the chamber to a degree beyond anything that had occurred during even the most paltry debates in the previous part of the session. On numerous occasions while the debate was in progress, there were not more than from 7 to 14 members of the opposition in the House, and night after night, because there were so few present the opposition speaker of the moment asked for an early adjournment so that he might have a better hearing from his own side. Judged by this debate it is not too much to say that the present opposition are falling very far short of their important responsibilities and duties; and that if the country is well governed they have but small share in the credit. There is an evident absence of cohesion of ideas on the part of the opposition side, which renders ineffective their criticism, such as it is. On only one thing are they united and that is in support of the principle of protection to the manufacturers, and objection to a Liberal government remaining in power.

The future attitude of Mr. Blair remains as much a mystery as ever. His most intimate friends have no idea as to what it will be. On this important question he voted with the government twice, and against it twice. While Mr. Tarte went out of his way on Sunday last to declare himself the opponent of the government on the question of high protection; on the railway question he voted with them on all three amendments, and only with the opposition on the main motion. In view, however, of his statements on Sunday there can be no question as to his ultimate future attitude. He has declared himself distinctly against the government on the tariff question and has expressed his willingness to campaign against them on that question. A notable feature of his argument on Sunday was that the government should be defeated, because if it were again returned to power there would be a further reduction in the duties, as the majority of the cabinet as it now stands are for low tariff. This is interesting information coming from such a source, and it will be well for the people of the west to paste it in their hats. When Mr. Tarte made his first break in favor of high protection while still a member of the government, the Bulletin suggested that he had his eye on the leadership of the opposition. This seems now to be no doubt that the first lieutenantcy is at his refusal; and if Leader Borden's health does not improve, there would seem to be nothing between Mr. Tarte and the actual leadership, unless it might be Mr. Blair, should he see fit to cross the floor, which, however, is not at all probable.

EGG LAKE

The weather has been very unsettled during the past two weeks. Rain has been very frequent, some showers lasting a whole day or night. It has been unusually cool for this season, and several times when the wind went down at night, we had slight frosts. Many gardens have been touched, and no doubt some late wheat has been slightly injured. We had none of the storm that struck Edmonton a couple of weeks ago.

N. E. Logan began cutting barley on the first. Judging from the amount of twine used, and the number of stooks, the yield should be about double what it was last year as the heads are large and well filled. As the ground is now very wet and soft after the almost continuous rain of the early part of the week, binding does not go very well and to fill in the time, Mr. Logan got his separator ready and will thresh some grain for his own use.

Auguste Lironel was in town last week and brought out a number of new desks. All the pupils are now seated with up-to-date patent desks, and the hand-made old-timers have been relegated to the woodshed. It is to the credit of the pupils and ex-pupils of the district, however, that the old desks go out of the school as they came in, without any hand carving or other decorative work surreptitiously executed during the teacher's busy moments. In the good old days in the good old east, it used to be the schoolboy's delight to ornament the desks and benches of the backwoods school, and later the highly polished surfaces of the patent desks, with initials, geometric designs and strange hieroglyphics: keeping a watchful eye on the teacher at the same time, and ready to smudge over the fresh made mark at a moment's notice with a lead pencil and a wet finger; so as to give it a venerable and time-worn appearance. But in this regard at least, the civilization of Egg Lake is far in advance of that of Ontario.

September 10th.

DISTRICT MEETING

The annual financial district meeting of the Edmonton district of the Methodist church, convened in the Methodist church at Leduc on Tuesday.

The morning service opened at 9.30 with the singing of a hymn. Rev. A. R. Aldridge, chairman; Rev. T. C. Buchanan, superintendent of missions for Alberta, led in prayer; Rev. Jno. Scott read a scripture lesson, after which Rev. C. H. Huestis, of Edmonton, gave a brief, but able and instructive address on "Power." The following circuits and missions were represented by their respective ministers:

Vermilion River, A. B. Argue; Birch Lake, W. S. Bradley; Victoria Galician Mission, C. H. Lawford; Star, R. H. Davis; Fort Saskatchewan, A. R. Aldridge, B.A.; Clover Bar, R. E. Finlay; Sturgeon, E. J. Hodgins, B.A.; Coronation, G. W. Sparling; Stony Plain, J. W. Smith; White Whale Lake, C. F. Hopkins; Edmonton, C. H. Huestis, M.A.; Strathcona, C. W. Finch, B.A., B.D.; Leduc, Jno. Scott; Wilton Park, H. Huston; Millet, John Kennedy; Wetaskiwin, C. G. Connelley, B.A., B.D.; Jubilee, John Tough; Lewisville, T. W. Bateman.

The lay representatives for Fort Saskatchewan and Leduc were also present.

The financial arrangements for the respective fields were then proceeded with, these, in the majority of cases, showing marked advance over last year.

The afternoon session opened with prayer. Several resolutions were adopted, one of which invited Dr. Sutherland to be present at a convention to be held at Edmonton during the winter in the interests of organizing the leagues of the district into a district league.

The chairman introduced the Wesley bi-centenary movement by calling upon each field as to what could and would be done in the matter of revival. This opened an inspiring and helpful discussion, the outcome of which was the adopting of a resolution along the lines advanced by the General Conference. This great movement seems opportune, in fact providential, as a means by which we may all unite in extending the cause of Christ.

A public meeting was held in the evening, at which Rev. T. C. Buchanan gave an address on the revival side of the bi-centenary celebration, and Dr. Woodworth, corresponding secretary for missions, spoke on the financial aspect.

On Monday evening service was held at the church, at which Rev. Connelley preached an eloquent and impressive sermon.

One great truth ran through all the addresses and the brethren would leave for their various fields, filled with that one thought, namely, obedience to God as the condition of spiritual power and the exercise and use of the power we have in order to the obtaining of a greater baptism, of the power of the living God.

HORSE HILLS

Nurse McLay, of Coronation, paid a professional visit to our district last week.

It is rumored that a general dry-goods and grocery store is about to be established here.

Messrs. Dewar, Strang, Simons and Sutherland, all of Fort Saskatchewan, spent Monday night in the village.

James McCartney arrived recently from Ferry Sound, and is assisting his uncle, J. J. Bell, with the harvest work.

Contractor John Ball, who so carefully and satisfactorily has completed the new school here, left for his home on Saturday. The rate payers and especially the faithful trustees, should feel highly complimented, as the department of education at Regina has requested photos of the exterior and interior of the building, so that they can have pictures of our school in their published annual report.

Ever since the 4th inst. S. Stanlake has been observed to be wearing an unusually proud smile. Both mother and son are doing very nicely.

Twice before has your correspondent mentioned Henry Borgwardt's apple tree, so it would be very thoughtful not to give your readers the whole story. The crop that it bore was undoubtedly the largest apple crop that was ever grown in Horse Hills, even considering the combined yields of all the apple trees here. The cruel weather of Labor Day, which so marred the enjoyment of the pleasure seekers at Edmonton, also did damage out here, for the entire crop was shaken from the young tree. To be terse, it might be said that one Hyslop apple now occupies a conspicuous position in Mr. Borgwardt's sitting room.

On Sunday, the 20th inst., at 3 p.m. the settlers of this vicinity will have their last opportunity of hearing the Rev. G. W. Sparling preach, as he leaves the following week for Wesley college, Winnipeg. On the 27th inst. at 11 a.m. Rev. A. Hood preaches his farewell sermon to the congregation here, as he leaves early in October to take charge of the Presbyterian church in Rosebank, Manitoba. Both of these ministers have labored faithfully and thoughtfully and earnestly amongst us and will be greatly missed. Who their respective successors will be has not been announced as yet.

Dr. C. H. Lawford, of Paken, passed through here en route to Edmonton on Monday.

The weather of the past week has been very disagreeable for the harvesters, who, on account of the lateness of the season, are obliged to work even dull wet days. The absence of sunshine and the unusually low temperature, have kept the grain from fully ripening. Nevertheless, cutting is general now. With regard to the effects of the heavy frosts of the last week, various opinions are entertained, the general idea being that the damage was not very serious, as there have been no black frosts as yet. After the grain is threshed the divers theories will assume more definite form. Nobody seems to be discouraged, however, and that is a good enough sign.

T. E. Perrett, Inspector of Schools, paid his semi-annual visit to our school this afternoon. Mr. Perrett thinks that we have one of the best, if not the best, rural school in his inspectorate.

Mrs. A. K. Dewar, and Mrs. A. T. Chambers, of Fort Saskatchewan, paid us a flying visit this morning.

September 11th.

CONJURING CREEK

The weather is still unsettled, but the grain which is not already cut is being cut at every opportunity. Considerable grain was cut before the recent slight frosts. The balance was fairly well filled so that we will have a splendid crop this year. The grain was very heavy, and some has fallen down.

The roads are in very poor condition. It seems strange that such a large settled district and a very vast district west of here, should not come under our representative's sympathy or notice. A good road for 10 or 12 miles west of Leduc is greatly desired.

Mr. Frank Clifford paid a flying visit to the Creek on Wednesday.

We are pleased to hear that Mr. Lee Emery is improving after his accident.

Land seekers still continue to come in, but owing to the bad roads, many of them fail to locate. This is a pity.

HARVEST FESTIVAL

The Salvation Army will celebrate the annual Harvest Thanksgiving Festival from Saturday, September 19th to Tuesday, September 22nd, inclusive. The officers in charge of the local corps select from the public a tithe of the beautiful blessing of field and store, in kind or cash, as a thanksgiving offering to God. Anything received will be turned to good account to support the numerous benevolent institutions, as well as to continue and extend the evangelical work of this successful organization.

It is now generally conceded that the Army has become a very necessary institution in this, as in every other country where it operates. Their achievements are beyond controversy, highly praiseworthy.

THE UNION S. S. PICNIC

Arrangements are now complete for the big union Sunday school picnic to be held on the exhibition grounds tomorrow. In addition to the usual program of races and field sports a special attraction will be put on in the form of an exhibition game of polo. The children will meet at the various churches at ten o'clock sharp and proceed from there at 10:30 o'clock to the picnic grounds. Parents are requested to have their baskets at the church not later than 10 o'clock, when they will be conveyed to the grounds. A bus will be at each church to carry smaller children.

A RED DEER MAN MISSING

Alberta, August 27th.

On August 27th, Mr. A. A. Content, with two men named Edward Ferguson and N. B. Colwell, went down the Red Deer river with a lumber laden raft to Tail Creek.

About six miles down they ran on to a sandbar and remained fast until the raft was relieved of 24,000 shingles when it floated off and was carried swiftly down the river. Mr. Content and Mr. Ferguson managed to get aboard, but Colwell, evidently not being on the qui vive, was left behind on the bar, and has not been seen or heard from since.

This sandbar is about 30 yards from the river bank, and although the water at the time of the occurrence was level with the top of the bar, it was not deep enough to necessitate swimming to get ashore. Exhaustive investigation and inquiries have been made by Sgt. Evans and others, but no trace of the missing man has been found.

The only swimmer that can be made, in view of the fact that Colwell was a good swimmer, is that in essaying to cross the river, he took strain, and was carried away by the strong current.

Colwell was a fine upstanding young man of nineteen years from St. John's, New Brunswick, and only landed in Red Deer on July 15th last.

ADDRESS TO REV W W PECK

Alberta. C. A. Stuart and A. Allan representing the supply committee of Knox church waited on Rev. W. W. Peck last night and presented him with an honorarium in the form of a very nice sized check and also the following address:

At a meeting of the supply committee of Knox church, Calgary, which was held on the evening of Sunday, August the 30th, a motion was passed unanimously instructing me to convey to you the cordial thanks of the committee and the congregation for the very excellent work which you have done among the members and adherents of the church during the past few weeks while in charge of the pastoral duties. They wish me also to say that they felt sure that the expression of gratitude would find an echo in the hearts of many of the individual members of the congregation by whom your services and kindly interest have been deeply appreciated.

The committee also desire that you accept the accompanying check as some more tangible evidence of the feeling which I am sure that I have but faintly expressed.
